explanations of their further classification. To differentiate and to have a better understanding of various kinds of ACAs judicial trends will be analyzed.

Further the fifth chapter explains why ACAs are illegal and the rationale behind prohibiting such agreement. A discussion will also be done to see the impact of ACA on developing economies. A critical analysis of the Competition Act is to be done to see whether or not it is sufficient and a case law based study will be done to see work of the Competition Commission of India with reference to ACA.

In the end, sixth chapter encloses the research work with conclusion of the whole study done in previous chapters related to the competition law and ACAs in India. According to the understanding by research few suggestions will also be stated in the end for evolving the Competition Act to meet the contemporary needs.
